Ed Anderson, Miken Technologies

by Julia Paulus

Ed Anderson has learned life-long lessons in every position he has held – in manufacturing, creative services, financial services, sales and management. This diverse background made him the ideal candidate for the position of executive vice president at Miken Technologies. “Ed’s wide range of experiences, both professional and personal, is what drew me to him,” says Mike Smith, president of Miken. “Ed can adapt to most any audience. He can communicate extremely well and handles pressure without breaking a sweat. In our business we’re faced with many deadlines, priorities and client needs. Ed’s able to juggle them all well and make it look easy.”

Just as Anderson’s experiences and abilities made him the right fit at Miken, Anderson says Miken’s atmosphere made it the ideal workplace for him to excel in. “We’re very open and direct in our communications, and our engineers and consultants are the best in the business,” says Anderson. “We’re all team- and service-focused people, and that makes a huge difference in our industry.”

Anderson says the business will continue to grow because he and his team focus on teamwork and service. “We are forward, positive thinkers, and we hope to continue to build upon our success of building enduring relationships with our associates and clients,” he says.
